THINGS TO KEEP IN MIND:

The Pre-Exam Readiness Check is mandatory. Candidates must complete it using the exact same location, laptop, smartphone, and internet connection intended for exam day. Miss the readiness check deadline, and the consequence is absolute: no exam, and your licence application will be rejected.

The exam remains open-book, online, and proctored, to be taken from home (no need to travel to the member association) and available in English, French, German, and Spanish (with the study materials available in English, French, and Spanish). However, time management is decisive. Technical adjustments, room changes, or discussions with the invigilator all count as exam time, and no extra time will be granted.

The official study materials now exceeds 1,000 pages. Success will not hinge on memorisation, but on knowing where to find the correct rule and how to apply it under time pressure, the defining skill in an open-book exam.

It is advisable for candidates to timely apply for the Exam, and not wait for the last day, because FIFA may come back with objections on your application, which will may entail gathering of additional documentation and information. To push this forward, register and apply quickly on the FIFA Agent Platform. Should you face any problems with navigating the application process, feel free to get in touch with us and our team will be happy to guide.

WHAT'S COMING NEXT?

Since the introduction of the FIFA Agent Exam, our team has consistently mentored and trained aspiring agents, with our candidates achieving a global pass rate exceeding 90% across five exam cycles. Building on this experience, we are launching a dedicated FIFA Agent Exam Preparation Course.

The course will combine live, practitioner-led classes, 500+ practice questions, topic-wise assessments, access to a doubt-resolution hotline, and an exam simulation designed to mirror real testing conditions and prepare one for the D-Day.
